RUGBY GAME NEXT SEASON MUCH CHANGED

Intercollegiate Rules Committee Make Improvements

ONLY TWELVE MEN.

Meeting on Saturday Was Productive of Many Startling Changes.

Expectations have been running high as to what changes would be made in the rules of Intercollegiate Rugby by the Intercollegiate Rules Committee, which met on Saturday.

As a result of this meeting, many changes have been made in the game, and it is expected that Rugby next season will be greatly improved thereby. Perhaps the most radical change is that which provides that there shall be only twelve men on a team, whereas formerly fourteen players were required to complete a team. The natural conclusion is that the game will be rendered more open, and hence it will be more spectacular. Furthermore, it will be seen that from a spectator's point of view the plays will be more distinct and easily followed. This eliminates what has been said to be one of the few drawbacks in the Canadian game. As a result of this decision there will only be seven men on the line instead of the former nine. This will also make the secondary defence stronger, as there will be nearly as many men there as on the line itself.

Notwithstanding the fact that the foregoing appears to be the greatest change, there is no doubt but that the most important change is the adoption of the snapback. The ball may now pass out through the medium of the snapback or by the old method of scrummaging it.

The old method is still permissible, but as a result of other changes it is almost certain that this method will never be used.

In future there will be no side scrummagers, and the centre will therefore be without any support. Still another rule was adopted whereby the locking of arms or any other means of holding on the line is forbidden while the ball is in play. This leaves the centre scrummager without any support in heeling out the ball.

In future, also, it will not be possible to use the scrum as a means of (Continued on Page 3.)

CERCLE FRANCAIS TO MEET AGAIN

Final Pre-Xmas Meeting To Be Held on Friday.

A final meeting of the Cercle Francais prior to the Christmas holidays will be held in the smoking-room of the Arts Building on Friday evening of this week. This will be the third meeting of the Cercle held this season. Owing to the large number of activities of all kinds which have been crowded into the last week of the term, it has been found impossible to procure a room in the Union itself. The members of other clubs have during the past made use of these commodious quarters so sadly missed by the Arts students at the beginning of the present session, that it is felt that the change will in no way interfere with the general comfort of the members attending the next meeting. In addition to refreshments and the general air of Gallie conviviality which reigns supreme at meetings of the Cercle, there will be two papers read by members of the club. It is intimated that the gentlemen in question have been at work on these theses for some time past. Their names will be divulged at a later date. As is customary, there will also be an address from a guest of honor chosen from among the prominent citizens of French-Canada.

The executive wish to impress upon all those who have not as yet paid their club dues the necessity of doing so at once. Immediately after the Christmas holidays the Cercle expect to entertain the fair members of their sister-organization—the Societe Francaise, as per immemorial custom. Attendance at this brilliant function will be strictly limited to the elect, consisting of those who have paid their full fees.

Further announcements regarding the plans for Friday's meeting will appear in these columns in the course of a few days.

McGILL POLO TEAM LOST BY NEAR MARGIN

Maisonneuve Defeats Intermediates by 4-3.

CLOSE GAME.

Was Eighth Game in the Schedule.

The McGill Intermediate Polo team was defeated last night by Maisonneuve in their tank. The final score of 4-3 indicates the closeness of the game as well as the comparative prowess of the two teams. From the first blow of the whistle the game was started off at a fast clip, and was kept up during the entire play. A noticeable feature was the marked aggressiveness of both teams. Maisonneuve had the edge in the first quarter as well as the final two, but towards the end, however, McGill took a spurt and the score seemed doubtful till the end.

The game started at 8.45, in the presence of a fair number of Maisonneuve supporters. McGill won the toss, but took their place in the deep water. Play became fast with neither side showing any apparent advantage, until towards the final part of the first quarter when Meien scored for Maisonneuve, putting their team in the lead. Moussette followed shortly with another goal, which he brilliantly executed, and thus at the end of the first quarter the score was 2-0 for Maisonneuve.

McGill brought the ball down to their opponents goal and in the second quarter play was kept for the most part around the Maisonneuve nets. This aggressiveness resulted in McGill scoring their first goal, which Bruker netted after passing through the Maisonneuve defence. McGill was now playing to advantage, and after some very clever passing, Winter succeeded in tying the score. At half time the score stood at 2-2.

The second half was resumed with McGill in the deep end. Maisonneuve was determined to redeem themselves for the disastrous quarter which preceded. The game was not long in duration when Naesmith tallied, and placed his team in the lead. The third quarter was very exciting and although the play was kept for the most part in McGill's end yet the Maisonneuve goalkeeper received several hard shots which could not get past him. Several times he warded off the McGill forwards from scoring, and his work had much to do in keeping his team in the lead. The whistle blew with the ball in centre water.

The fourth quarter opened with Maisonneuve carrying the ball to McGill's goal. McKenzie made some brilliant stops, but after many attempts Moussette succeeded in slipping the ball. This goal placed Maisonneuve in the lead and the McGill worked frantically to overcome it. After bringing the ball down several times and skillfully eluding his opponent, Bruker tallied his second goal and McGill was now only one behind. In the next 40 seconds which remained McGill tried desperately to overcome the lead, but Maisonneuve, playing a defensive game, succeeded in keeping off the attacks of McGill's forwards, and thus the final whistle blew with Maisonneuve the winners.

SKATING TO BE POPULAR THIS YEAR

Use Women's Rink for Social Skating.

TICKETS ON SALE.

No Fee Required of Those Participating in Class Hockey.

Hockey and skating should boom at the University this year. The men's rink is now ready for use, and the women's rink will be ready in the very near future.

Tickets for skating privileges are on sale this morning by the janitors of the buildings, at the rink and at the office of the Department of Physical Education, Molson Hall, Arts Building.

Present indications point to a great revival in outdoor sports, and chief among these will no doubt be hockey and skating. The interest that has already been evinced by the large number of classes applying for admission to the Class Hockey Schedule is very gratifying, and a most successful season is assured.

By special arrangement this season, the social skating from 4 to 6 p.m., which heretofore has been held in the men's rink, will be held in the women's rink in the hollow, excepting Wednesday afternoons, when the men's rink will be used for that purpose.

The women's rink is only 15 feet shorter than the men's, and great satisfaction has been expressed at the new arrangement, the only inconvenience being that the men will have to don their skates at the upper dressing room, the one in the hollow being reserved for the ladies. This rearrangement will mean that there will be available for class hockey nine hours between 9 and 6 throughout the week, more than has been the case in past years. As these are the popular hours, there will undoubtedly be a big boom in class hockey circles. It is through these games that students with natural ability will have an opportunity to gain experience and thus secure a berth on one of the representative teams. All the class games will be closely supervised, so that any one who shows special ability will be drafted to the squads (Continued on Page 3.)

CHESS CLUB WINS IN TOURNAMENT

McGill Defeats Westmount in Second Game of City Chess League.

The McGill Chess Club played the Westmount Chess Club last night in the second round of the City League and McGill was again victorious. This win puts McGill at the head of the league and at the present rate of progress she looks like a sure winner. This will bring another championship home to the College.

The games were of great interest and suspense. Although McGill won by a score of 5½ to ½, some of the games were by no means easily won. Huntlen was the first to win his game, doing so in a masterly game, which demonstrated to all that he is a successful exponent of the king of games—chess. Johnston then defeated his opponent, which gave the second game to us. Jordan, who captained the team, showed his ability to do so by defeating his man, the captain of the opposing team.

Enzer drew with his opponent for the fourth game, when he succeeded in obtaining a stale-mate. Duberger's game was the most interesting of the six games, ending with a King and a Pawn, which he succeeded in Queening. He mated his opponent very shortly after this. The game played by Rothschild was also a clever exhibition of chess. The game was perfectly played on both sides, but the slightly superior capabilities of Rothschild succeeded in giving him the game.

The following are the teams and scores:

McGill.	Westmount.

Rothschild... 1	Gneadinger... 0
Enzer..... ½	Marchant..... ½
Jordan (cap.) 1	Morton (cap.) 0

A SONG BOOK

There is a lamentable lack of community singing at McGill. This has been observable for some years, and has now reached the point where, at a smoker, dinner or other gathering of undergraduates not only do few students know the words of all the songs sung, but the majority cannot even get through "Hail Alma Mater" without hauling out their handbooks. This is serious. The popular conception of a college gathering is a group of men who may be together ostensibly for purposes of eating, smoking or listening to speeches, but who in reality fill in about half their evening with singing. The favorite name of a vaudeville quartet is some sort or other of "College Four." What have we at McGill? Not a song, absolutely not a song at any of our functions.

There is on sale in the Redpath Library an old collection of McGill songs, compiled in 1895 and published by Wm. Foster Brown of Montreal; but this book can never be made the nucleus of a revival of singing at Alma Mater. It consists of some hundred and ninety pages of songs so obsolete that their names even are utterly unknown to the present generation of undergraduates: apart from "God Save the Queen," "Rule Britannia," "La Marseillaise" and "Alouette" none of them are recognisable, and the first has undergone a radical change since its publication in this volume, while the last is rapidly passing into oblivion.

The one evident way of reviving singing at this university is to recreate the Glee Club and to issue a new and modern song book which will include the more precious of the old ones revised and brought to date, and which will take in more recent songs, to us already old, traditional heart-throbs like "Come Fill Your Glasses Up" and "James McGill." Ephemeral parodies and rosters' songs and yells naturally can not be included in a book of this kind; they are not truly representative, nor should they be made permanent.

Among other necessary features of such a book would be a song for each club, and the publication of "Hail Alma Mater" as our official McGill hymn. There might also be included to advantage such empire-songs as "Till the Boys Come Home" and "Tipperary," songs dear to those who went across and to those who stayed at home, with the reprinting of "Rule Britannia," "O Canada," "The Maple Leaf" and similar gems which some McGill men have still to learn.

For the personnel of a committee to re-issue the song book in a modern and more complete form, might we suggest that representatives from the Conservatorium of Music, members of the Department of English and elective representatives from each undergraduate society could quite ably revise the old edition and make it the success it deserves to be. There are undoubtedly publishers in the city who would be pleased to issue this book and to pay to the compilers a royalty on all copies sold. If the Glee Club were in existence, the supervision of this work might be left in their hands.

It is not impossible to get out such a book. We have had one before. It is unnecessary that our social functions be made to suffer by the lack of that delightfully informal camaraderie which always accompanies group singing.

AT THE NEW GRAND.

The attraction at the New Grand Theatre all this week is "Nomads of the North," a photodrama described as "extraordinary," from the pen of James Oliver Curwood, an author who won undying fame for his "Back to God's Country" and "The River's End." The third product of the Curwood knowledge of the Far North and of natural history is being presented by the Associated First National as also were the other two efforts. The title tells a great deal as to the nature of the story of "Nomads of the North," and it has to do with an intense love affair which wanders through many nooks and corners seldom called mortal man's ken. The great piece-of-resistance in the persistent effort of an ironfisted "king-pin" of a trading-post to impose his will to the extent of forcing a girl whose father is in his debt to marry his pampered and vicious son. But the girl loves a simple-minded, honest, sturdy trapper who got so far away from her that it required three years to make the return trip and he arrived just in the nick of time, for she was about to be forced against her own will to become the wife of the man she genuinely hated. The reappearance of the real lover on the scene starts exciting events which never abate until the very finish of the film. Triumph and happiness crown the protracted efforts of the couple to combat a wide variety of serious obstacles. An excellent cast interprets the various picturesque characters in this photoplay. Lon Chaney and Betty

ALL ROADS

LEADING TO RINKS NOW

Hockey Hours To Be Announced Soon.

ROOM FOR EVERYONE.

Regulars Must Use Campus Rink Until Arena is Available.

Once again King Hockey resumes his sway and the Campus Rink will be resplendent in red and white. The interest is keen, and there is any amount of opportunity for everyone to handle a stick. To develop Senior and Intermediate talent in sufficient quantity to offset the Varsity Senior Squad of thirty senior players means that much greater interest than heretofore must be shown. Hockey players, unlike footballers, are the result of natural ability and much practice, and it is impossible to develop material unless everyone that has any ability gets into the game.

To do this, careful arrangements have been made for Inter-Class matches, and practice hours have been assigned so that everyone can have two practices a week to get into shape, without missing a lecture. This is far more than has ever been possible before, and it is hoped that every player will show his appreciation by getting out on the job. This is where the future stars will be unearthed, and those who aspire to hockey "M's" before they graduate should turn out now and show what stuff they are made of. Those in the third and fourth years should not stay away because they feel it is impossible to get a berth with one of the regular squads. The Inter-Class finals will be over in the first week in February, long before the City and Intercollegiate Leagues are finished playing, and anyone who can show the right stuff will be in no danger of being overlooked.

The regular time-table will appear shortly, until then hours will be published daily, starting to-day. The only point to be borne in mind is that certain teams will have to forego their second hour of practice until the holidays, unless they desire to take a late period, from 9 to 10 p.m. This is due to the fact that the Mount Royal Arena has no ice yet, so that the regular squads are obliged to use the rink from 4 p.m. to 6 p.m., except Wednesday from 4 p.m. to 6 p.m., and Thursday from 4 p.m. to 5 p.m. They will need the extra time for elimination work and to accommodate three teams on one rink. The Hockey executive regret that this is necessary, but it will only affect about one week or at most ten days, and then after Christmas all will be plain sailing. It is not much to ask the Inter-Class players to give up one practice, or at most two, to help the regulars along.

As will be readily seen, the time-table is timed very closely, and it will be necessary to lay down certain rules which will be rigidly enforced to avoid clashes and dissatisfaction. The manager would be very glad if any public-spirited individuals who have some spare time in the afternoon, and are familiar with hockey, would consider taking charge of the rink for, say, one afternoon or one evening, or both, every week, so that everything will run smoothly, and so that some responsible person will be there to look after hours and material. This would be a real service to the Hockey Club and will help not only this year but for years to come. Communications should be addressed to the Union.

Every class which has entered a team will have to appoint a captain and some one to take his place on occasion as manager. The captain or the manager will be present at every practice and game and will be responsible for the following being observed: (1) That players arrive punctually and leave the ice promptly when the practice is over. The decision of the Class Hockey Manager is final as to hours and times. (2) That any property of the Hockey Club is turned over to the C.H.M. intact at the end of the practice. Goal pads, etc., must be signed for in the book. (3) That a list of men present at practice is handed to the Class Hockey Manager immediately after each practice. The C.H.M. is required to furnish the Department of Physical Education with the names of men who attend in order to comply with the regulation governing physical training, and it is the duty of Class Captains to see that their men are duly credited with their attendance under the "One-Eighth" Rule, which will apply to Class Hockey as to other forms of athletics. Absences will be covered by the usual slip from the

OUT IN FORCE THIS EVENING

Leaving From Union at 7.30 p.m.

200 EXPECTED.

Sport is Coming Back to Its Pre-War Status.

Final arrangements for to-night's snowshoe tramp were completed at a meeting of the executive held in the Union yesterday afternoon. It was estimated then that there would be at least two hundred enthusiasts attending this initial tramp of the year. The R.V.C. are turning out "en masse," and the tickets sold to the men of the University assure the executive that there will be an equal number of men and women to make the trip towards Mount Royal.

Everyone is requested to be on hand at the union at 7.30 p.m. sharp, as it is essential to the success of the function that a start be made no later than 8 o'clock. Programmes will be exchanged for the tickets on the presentation of the latter in the lounge room, where the snowshoers will congregate prior to setting out. A committee has been named to look after the matter of introductions, and will do their best to see to it that there will be no bashful young gentlemen and shy young maidens skulking in dark corners to avoid acquaintance with one another. Still an additional factor in the promotion of mutual companionship will be the presence of the chaperons, the Misses MacKinnon, Nichol and Newnam.

Snowshoers, as was mentioned in yesterday's "Daily," are obtainable at Smyth's, at 310 University Street, and it is expected that all will come fully equipped in this respect to cover the course mapped out. It has been suggested that all who can avail themselves of anything in the form of a flashlight, or carbide lamp, will bring them along to afford some light along the route.

On the return to the Union refreshments will be supplied by the Cafeteria authorities, and it is anticipated that these will prove highly welcome to the trampers after their cross-country hike. Everyone on time, then—7.30 p.m.—and be in from the beginning on the biggest snowshoe tramp yet held at McGill.

BASKETBALLERS TO MEET FRIDAY

Commerce I. and Medicine II. To Decide Inter-Class Series.

The final game in Inter-Class Basketball will take place in Molson Hall gymnasium next Friday at 8.30 p.m. The contestants will be Commerce I. and Medicine II. (six-year course). These two teams will meet to decide which class is to hold the premier position in Basketball among the different years of McGill.

All men who started with these teams are eligible for a place on these teams, and are consequently urged to be on deck at the appointed time to give the respective teams an equal and fair chance of carrying off the honors.

Dean's offices, which will be shown to the C.H.M.

(4) That all players shall have been medically examined before they compete in any match, and that they are in good standing with the Athletic Association and eligible to compete. Failure in this respect will lead to the match being lost by default, irrespective of the actual result, and it may not be re-played.

The expression "Class Hockey Manager" shall mean any one appointed by the Hockey Club to manage class hockey, or his duly appointed deputy. The term "Class Captain" shall mean the captain of a class team or his manager in his absence.

The manager will endeavor to meet each team captain personally, and will call a meeting early this week, when a time-table and a copy of the rules governing the practices and games will be available for each man. This year the manager will arrange for all officials from a neutral faculty to avoid disputes, and their decisions will be final. At this coming meeting the schedule of games will be presented. The manager would be glad if any men who have experience of hockey and could referee games, act as time-keepers or goal judges, would give their names and phone numbers to the class captain of their years before Tuesday next. All team captains should be selected by Tuesday at the latest.

ALL READY

FOR B. W. & F. FIRST SMOKER

Boxers, Wrestlers & Fencers Will Make Debut.

FIRST CLASS BOUTS.

Very Good Exhibitions Are Promised For Wednesday Night Smoker.

There seems to be quite a bit of misunderstanding about the coming B. W. and F. Smoker. Luckily, the smoker is not confined to members of the club itself, but tickets may be procured by any student attending the University.

The Boxers, Wrestlers and Fencers have been working now since October, and have been devoting every effort to the development of talent which will give McGill a very good chance to carry off the honors at the Assault-Arms in February.

Wednesday evening at 8.15 the fireworks will start upstairs in the Union. Since Monday morning the ballroom has resounded with the noise of hammer blows and all the other various sounds which accompany the erection of an up-to-date ring. The knights of the squared-circle have gathered together for this occasion and have drawn up a list of events which will rival the tournaments of old for skill, excitement and gore. They will have to fight their way to a victory for the Red and White in the Intercollegiate Assault-Arms before a large audience, and the club does not want its members to be handicapped by stage fright.

McGill's wrestling class this year is large, well-balanced and well-trained. The students are not asked to go to the "Smoker" to see a few novices go through the motions of a wrestling match, but they are guaranteed some real wrestling bouts by a set of young wrestlers who know something of the game.

Boxing has grown very popular lately. Of course, a great deal of the attention which this sport is receiving at present is no doubt due to the approaching battle between Dempsey and Carpentier, but the popularity of the sport among amateurs always keeps at about the same level, and McGill this year has the usually large number of "fight faux."

It has been rumoured around McGill that a "ticket scalper's association" had been formed to buy up the tickets for the smoker to-morrow night. Don't believe it. You will be able to get tickets easily enough. On the other hand, do not be carried away by your College Spirit and buy tickets merely for the sake of supporting a worthy branch of college activity. You might cause a shortage of tickets, you know. It is just possible, so do not buy unless you expect to be present and expect to see some interesting contests.

There are some other rumors going the rounds and which should be denied. It is not true that the B. and W. executive has received a cablegram from Zbyssco in Poland offering the club his best wishes. Nor is it true that Georges Carpentier will be present at the smoker to referee the bouts. The club is not receiving any support or encouragement from outside. The students of McGill are the only supporters of the club, and the executive would like to know just what their support is worth.

Between twenty and twenty-five members of the Fencing Club have been turning out regularly at practices since September. This unusual enthusiasm is no doubt one of the causes of the exceptional skill which many of the fencers have attained. Quite apart from the interest aroused by the play of skill versus skill in the fencing match itself is the interest evoked by the fencer's costume, his charming behaviour towards his opponent, and the picturesque phraseology of his "bottle language." The cry "touche" and the chivalrous proffer of the sword to the worsted opponent are alone worth the price of admission.

To relieve the nervous strain in the event of any of the spectators or contestants becoming aroused to too great an extent, soft music will be rendered by one of our college "jazz" machines.

Come all ye lovers of the manly arts and spend the evening in your element.

Don't forget the password, "Buckets of Blood."

Boost the "Daily" when you buy. And do your shopping early.

In olden times judges were not allowed to wear gloves on the English bench, for fear of bribes being dropped into them; but, if there were no cases to be tried, there was no opportunity for bribing, and the sheriffs might give the judge a pair of gloves.

RUGGER PLAYERS

DINE IN UNION

Enjoyable Evening Wind Up Very Successful Season.

The dinner staged by the English Rugby Club, in the Union, last night, was a very successful wind-up to a very successful season. The guests of honor were Professor Matthews and the Maritime team. The former is the honorary vice-president of the club, and during the season took upon himself voluntarily the position of official referee. As one speaker said, he did some wonderful refereeing. On one memorable occasion, he made a very excellent decision on a knotty point of touch during a game of water-polo staged between the Westerners and the Imperials.

The keynote of the evening was the wonderful way in which the various speakers were reminded of stories. The manager, Al. Kemp, during an outline of the prospects of the club for next fall, reminded himself of a story of a bee who put things off till to-morrow.

Lord Congleton, on replying to a vote of thanks from the Maritimers (proposed by T. F. Mackintosh, their captain) produced some very amusing reminiscences of life in the navy.

It was very much regretted that the two most prominent men in the club were unable to be present. Both Dr. Whitnall and A. R. Lawrence were kept away by illness.

In the absence of the president, the vice-president occupied the chair. It was noticed by those present that he was unaccustomed to public speaking, and he omitted several formalities. However, owing to the entirely informal aspect of the whole proceedings, these were passed over without a vote of censure. It was decided that he might improve with further experience.

The dinner committee and the staff of the Union produced a very excellent meal, which was enjoyed by all present.

A very successful future is predicted for the club, with the great enthusiasm which has been shown by the exponents of the game.

With a team in Toronto and a possibility of a team at Queen's, together with four University teams in the Maritime Provinces, the chances are very good for the formation of an Intercollegiate League for next season.

MARITIME WESTERN.

Owing to a typographical error in yesterday's announcement re supper arrangements at the Maritime-Western Dance a good deal of misunderstanding has developed. The following will, we hope, remove all ambiguity.

Half the tickets issued are cross marked in black and red.

If you hold a ticket not marked in such a manner, No. 6 is your supper dance. You enjoy refreshments while the others dance No. 7.

On the other hand, if your ticket is marked, No. 7 is your supper dance, and you partake while those who have already been refreshed dance No. 8.

Thus you all obtain eleven dances and two extras.

Those who have supper first have no dance during No. 7, the remainder forfeit No. 8. Now should you follow this ruling there will be no congestion, you will all be served with refreshments and your chances of getting another extra to make up for the dance you missed while at supper, are excellent.

Read this over again and then turn to the Notice Column and obtain other information.

Ten Minutes With The Principal

(Ed. Note.—Principal Sir Arthur Currie has kindly agreed to allow a member of the "Daily" Staff to interview him on matters of current interest at the University each week. His answers to the "Daily" queries of this week appear below.)

Principal Sir Arthur Currie was interviewed yesterday by the "Daily" on matters relative to the interest of the University at large. Sir Arthur was first asked to what immediate use the funds received in the recent campaign would be put. He stated that at present, beyond the funds required to meet the augmented salaries of the professors voted early in the session, nothing definite had been decided. "There is a pronounced feeling, however," said Sir Arthur, "that a beginning will come with the erection of a students' residence."

The interest taken by the Board of Governors in the returned soldier students is clearly shown by the fact that the Principal has been authorized to make special concessions to returned men who are in financial difficulties and would otherwise be unable to continue their course. Reduction of fees for soldier-students generally is receiving the careful consideration of the Governors, but as yet no decision has been reached as to whether this should apply only to those who served at the front or whether it should include those who have only served in England or Canada to their credit.

Sir Arthur would be very glad to consult with any returned man who is in need of funds to continue his University course, pending an announcement from the Board of Governors.

The Principal then expressed his interest in the proposed college monthly magazine. "I can see," said Sir Arthur, "where there could be room at a University like McGill for a periodical magazine, but such a production ought to be controlled by the Students' Council. The matter should be given the greatest consideration and any foreshadowed collision with the "Daily" properly discussed." The Principal had not received any information as to what the students' course of action would be in this matter.

He then spoke of the extension of the Arts course, which is a problem the authorities are anxious to solve. Sir Arthur referred to the extra work done in the month of May by Science students. No such work is done in this month by Arts students, and the Corporation is desirous that every possible advantage leading to a sound education should be embraced by all McGill students.

Many new events are developing in the work of the University, news of which will be given from time to time to the "Daily" by the Principal.

CANADIAN CLUB MEETS ON FRIDAY

Hon. L. A. David To Give Address.

For the first meeting of the season, the Canadian Club have secured the Hon. L. Athanasios David, Provincial Secretary, and also Minister of Education. This latter Department includes the granting of provincial scholarships.

The Hon. L. A. David is one of Quebec's foremost statesmen. Born in Montreal in 1882, he studied law at Laval University, and was called to the Quebec Bar in 1901. He was president of the Junior Bar Association from 1913 to 1915, and member of the Council of the Bar, 1914-15. In 1916 he was elected member of the Quebec Legislature for Terrebonne, and now holds the important office of Provincial Secretary in the Taschereau Cabinet.

The subject of his discourse is "Economic Quebec." He has already spoken before the Canadian Club in Toronto on this very subject, and his speech has aroused very favorable comment. It is therefore a privilege for us to hear him speak, and it is to be hoped that there will be a very large and representative gathering at the Union on Friday at five o'clock.

SKATING TO BE POPULAR THIS YEAR

In accordance with the policy adopted last year, there will be no skating tickets required of students taking part in regularly organized approved class hockey practices. No fee will be necessary for these activities, the only thing that will be demanded being the man's "A" or "B" category card secured at the time of his Medical Examination.

The social skating is bound to be more popular than ever this year.

The professors, lecturers and their families are to be specially provided for, and if the demand is great enough certain evening periods could probably be reserved for special occasions. In any case, the family membership ticket will entitle children with their guardians to use the rink throughout the morning and for some of the afternoon periods.

As stated above, tickets are on sale by the janitors, at the rink, and at the office of the Department of Physical Education.

Season tickets, students, $2.00. Family (professors, lecturers, etc.), $5.00.

Single skating tickets may be purchased for 25 cents at the rink.

Special evening periods will be reserved for the parties conducted annually by the student Y.M.C.A., and the McGill Fancy Skating Club will have the exclusive use of the women's rink on Thursday evenings.

THEOLOGICALS WILL MEET TO-MORROW

Initial Meeting of Theological Undergrad. Society—Address by Capt. Jones.

The first meeting of the Theological Undergraduate Society will be held in the Presbyterian College to-night at 8 p.m. The address of the evening will be given by Capt. T. W. Jones, B.A., on the subject: "Coming Canadians," and will be a study of the immigration problem. Capt. Jones has an expert knowledge of this subject and spoke recently at the Economics Club of McGill University.

At the conclusion of Capt. Jones' address there will be an open discussion on the subject and as some of the members of the McGill Faculty as well as the Theological Faculty will be present, an interesting and instructive discussion is anticipated.

It is hoped there will be a large attendance from men of all four co-operating colleges as this is the first official meeting of the society and its future will to a great extent depend on the interest shown in it by the students.

The society are the guests of the Presbyterian College for the evening and refreshments will be served.

Mr. N. Peterson will act as chairman of the meeting.

ble to push through massed plays by two lines of players, and thus getting the ball out. The old play was used all last season and resembled a flying wedge. Not more than two men may now be used, and, therefore, there will be many less injuries, as often resulted in the old play.

Under the new rules the game will be featured by open plays behind the line and many end runs. Some time ago "Shag" was heard to remark that under the prevailing system at the time it was impossible to make end runs against the McGill team. Thus it will be seen again that the spectators are going to see some spectacular running.

Among other rules that were amended there was the one concerning the three yard catch on a kicked ball. The three yard limit is now eliminated, and the onus lies with the referee as to whether the player has had a fair chance to catch the ball. There will be a difference in scoring, inasmuch as teams making an uncertain try will not be allowed to convert it. A try made from a fumble now gives as many points as a drop kick. The officials decided that a fumble was a failure to hold the ball after touching it or dropping after being tackled.

Again, in regard to the line scrimmage, it is seen that there must never be less than seven men on the line, which was defined as an imaginary line through the spot where the ball is to be played and parallel to the goal line.

Coaches are now barred from the field during the play, the penalty for infraction of this rule being that the team to which the offender belongs shall lose fifteen yards. No penalty shall be less than three minutes. A penalized man must report to the headlinesman, as well as to the referee, before returning to the field. The headlinesman will in future be scorekeeper.

The officers of the Rules Commission for next season are as follows: President, Mr. A. Wright, of Toronto; secretary-treasurer, E. O. Sitter, Queen's. The Commission will be formed by two men named from the clubs of each University.

Delegates who attended the meeting were: Toronto, Dr. A. B. Wright and Dr. W. Hendry; R.M.C., N. H. McCauley and Major Greenwood; Queens, Professors Malcolm and E. O. Sitter; McGill, Dr. Lorne Montgomery and Dr. Argue.

THE SPIRES OF OXFORD.

I saw the spires of Oxford,
As I was passing by.
The gray spires of Oxford
Against the pearl-gray sky.
My heart was with the Oxford men
Who went abroad to die.

The years go fast in Oxford.
The golden years and gay.
The hoary Colleges look down
On careless boys at play.
But when the bugles sounded war
They put their games away.

The cricket field, the quad,
The shaven lawns of Oxford,
To seek a bloody sod—
They gave their merry youth away
For country and for God.

God rest you, happy gentlemen,
Who laid your good lives down,
Who took the khaki and the gun
Instead of cap and gown.
God bring you to a fairer place
Than even Oxford town.

—Winifred M. Lettis.

Library Notes

The Library has just received from Germany two shipments of books and periodicals of great scientific value. The first consists of a collection of over 5,000 pamphlets and monographs on birds, published chiefly in Germany, but representing also the other important European countries. This extensive collection of pamphlets is Colonel Casey A. Wood's latest contribution to the Emma Shearer Wood Library of Ornithology, and will go far towards completing the resources of this collection for research purposes.

The second shipment is one that has long been anxiously awaited by several departments in the University, for it not only contains certain books which have been outstanding orders since 1914, or earlier, but it also includes the back numbers of a large number of scientific and philosophical periodicals which were unavailable during the war. The contents of these periodicals are not of a restricted national interest, but are of general scientific value and help to keep complete the files of these series already in the Library.

Negotiations for the delivery of this material have been going on since last January, and it is probable that the cases would have been delivered earlier had not a portion of the correspondence been lost in transit.

BIBLE STUDY TO BE DISCONTINUED

Suppers to Commence Again After Xmas Holidays.

At the Bible Study supper held in Strathcona Hall last evening, it was decided because of the proximity of the holidays and the consequent uncertainty of the members who would turn out, to discontinue the "bean feeds" until after Christmas.

These suppers are worthy of much better support than has recently been accorded them, and it is hoped, and confidently expected, that after their inauguration in the New Year they will prove as popular as was the case last session.

CULTURE VS. BUSINESS AND EDUCATION.

The university student of to-day is following in the footsteps of the business men. He is neglecting like the business man, his cultural development. He is a specialist in a narrow field.

He specializes not in an all-around training like the college student of the preceding generations, but in dentistry, civil engineering, banking, law or any of the many courses which makes up the modern curriculum. He seems to have no eyes or ears for the accomplishments of the world in the realms of art, literature or religion. His interest, in his own subjects corresponds to the business man's interest in only that which can be translated in terms of profit and loss.

Further analogy can be drawn in the interest of the two classes in lectures and entertainments of cultural value. Pitifully small audiences are present at the general convocations at the university, that in spite of the fact that the speakers are usually of high calibre and of great accomplishment. Enthusiasm of the business man in lecturers of similar ability who visit the city is lacking. The auditorium or lecture hall presents a scattered audience.

The business man has awakened to his plight too late in life, if we are to believe writers on the subject. He has turned to cultural things at the end of his life's work, only to find no interest or diversion there. It may well be predicted that the student of the present generation will have a similar awakening—too late.

THEATRES

ORPHEUM.

"Here it's peace and good will toward all good peace men, and to hell with the women."

So William Naughton, portraying Julian Rolfe, the American journalist, summarized the Russian attitude towards its people. Supported by Margaret Knight, who played the role of Marya Varenka, the persecuted Jewish girl, and by a set of excellent actors, the Orpheum Players certainly presented the most appreciated play of the season.

To the Jewish element of the University this week's play at the Orpheum Theatre, "The Yellow Ticket," will be more than interesting. It is a story, a heartrending one, of a Russia under an even worse regime than that which the Bolshevik enforces there to-day. The play derives its title from a document known as the "Yellow ticket," the possession of which permitted a Jew in Russia to roam about the country without harm or insult of any kind, but the holder could in no way migrate from the country.

The story is one of official persecution of a beautiful young Jewish girl. She wishes to visit her dying father, and her religion forces her to apply for this horrible document. The poor girl is at the time of the play engaged as companion to the daughter of a wealthy American. A social function is held at the American's house, and while the revelry is at its height, a member of Russia's secret police enters, recognizes the girl, and discloses the fact that she bears that document which singles her out as an unfit associate for all good women.

Driven from the only home she knew, she seeks protection from an influential baron, who under the guise of friendship, lures her to his house. It is only when she arrives at his house that she learns his real motive. The baron is killed and Marga Varenka faces the charge of murder. The presence in Russia of an American embassy, the indirect though brilliant part played by an American journalist, and the intrigue of Russian officials, lead eventually to the freeing of the girl.

PRINCESS.

Headlining an excellent and varied programme at the Princess this week is the Synchopated Society Band with Henry Santrey, the popular baritone, as leader. The band is composed of ten musicians of high repute, and offers an exceedingly fine production for music lovers in particular and for the theatre going public in general. While this, doubtless, is the feature event of the week, the remainder of the programme is equally up to the usual high standard of the Princess. "Smiles and Songs" is the title of a very humorous sketch by Bentram and Saxton. These gentlemen have succeeded in blending these two most essential parts of cheerfulness namely Smiles and Songs.

The four Laing Brothers present an original and difficult acrobatic act, which is very well received. A semblance of mystery is bound up in the next act, entitled "Fifteen Minutes of Something." Jack Ostermoor fills a brief quarter hour full of song, dance and chatter.

Grace Dunbar Nile is the leading actress in a one act play entitled "Petticoats." The play echoes with the fun and the frivolity of youth. Miss Nile has attained distinction as an actress and is ably supported by the other members of the cast.

Martin and Moore, in a mid-air classic, Charles E. Bensall and Florence Baird in "Songflage" and "Visual News of all the World" brings the programme to a close. A programme brim full of interest and fun.

NEW GRAND.

"Nomads of the North" is the title of the feature picture now showing at the New Grand. Such a picture added to numerous other attractions is the make up of what is a really good show.

The cast contains such players as Betty Blythe, Lou Chaney and Lewis J. Stone. The scene is the great north country of Canada, and the story is an example of James Oliver Curwood at his best. It is that of a man who accidentally kills another. His escape and subsequent capture afford the foundation for a powerful story. Traced to his hiding place where with his wife and child he is living happily Raoul, a trapper, is forced to surrender, but on the return journey a forest fire changes all expectations.

The picture abounds with humorous incidents which centre about Brimstone, the pup, and Newwa, the bear cub. The antics of the latter clumsy creature provoke peals of laughter from the audience. One spectacular and very realistic scene is the great forest fire, which so materially affects the course of the story.

Betty Blythe acts with her usual excellence and is supported by a strong cast. The villain, characterized as "a polished serpent from Montreal," is all that a villain should be. Lewis J. Stone as Corporal O'Connor, does several fine pieces of acting.

The comedy entitled "Edgar Takes the Cake" is one of those played mostly by juveniles and is a very fair sample of its kind.

In the Canadian National Pictorial is shown the game in which Varsity defeated Argonauts and won the Dominion Rugby title. Other pictures and selections by the New Grand Concert Orchestra complete what is really a very fair bill with a feature picture unusual in theme.

GAYETY.

The management of the Gayety Theatre made another great hit with the packed house when they presented Frank Harcourt and Billy Foster in Joe Hurtig's burlesque comedy, entitled "Going Up and Coming Down."

The play was amusing throughout, and offered a good amount of talent on the part of the actors, especially on the part of Messrs. Harcourt and Foster, who made the audience go into hysterics whenever they appeared on the stage. On one occasion they presented a dialogue which resulted in a thunderous ovation from the audience.

The cast of supporters, which consisted of Messrs. Well, Mellon, Senon, Bennett, and Misses Hart, Glasco, and Travis, were among the best seen in the Gayety this season. They acted their parts well and received much applause from the audience. In the case of Miss Hart, she was called out no less than five times when she sang her "La Paloma" in Italian.

It was announced during the performance that next week there would appear in the Gayety another Hurtig production, entitled "Social Maids," in which George Niblo and Helen Spencer will take the leading roles. The management wish it to be known that the main actors have the reputations of being excellent comedians, and that this will be their first appearance in Montreal.

Next Friday night, starting at 11.30 p.m., there will be a special Christmas attraction, in the form of a midnight show. A Christmas tree will be placed on the stage, and presents will be distributed to the audience. One may be assured of "lots of fun," so all those interested in having a good time go to the Gayety on Friday, December 24th, and you will surely get it.

LOEW'S.

The presentations at Loew's this week are, as a whole, quite up to the standard that the patrons of that theatre are accustomed to. There are one or two acts which could be improved upon, but the rest are entirely satisfactory.

The headline attraction is a melange of songs and dances, entitled "Past and Present." A mixed quartette in this put across old and new

McGill Men and Women

Every normal one of us just at this time of year is reacting to the call of the Christmas Spirit—the spirit which impels us to give tangible evidence of the good will we bear our friends. The MCGILL DAILY wishes, in this connection, to call your attention to an opportunity which you have at this time to show your good will toward men and firms who have shown their good will and friendship toward you by advertising in your paper.

Nearly every line of merchandise is represented among the advertisers in the "DAILY," and they all—we feel safe in saying—offer as good merchandise and values as are to be found in Montreal.

Therefore, when you are doing your Christmas shopping, remember those merchants who think enough of McGill and her students, to appeal directly to them through the medium of their own publication.
